MAKING MONEY ON APPLES

Million and Quarter Bushels Were Raised in One Arkansas County.

A recent dispatch from Rogers, Ark., states the following: Figures are now available from all parts of Benton County with regard to the apple crop of 1913, and is a very conservative estimate to place the total crop at $1,125,000 bushels, of which not less than 1000 cars were shipping stock.

This means that Benton county had 500,000 bushels of apples good enough to place in cold storage and ship in barrels or bulk, and the average price was right around 75 cents. The apple crop this year has been worth between $500,000 and $600,000 to Benton County, and when to this is added the $250,000 brought to the county by the 500 cars of peaches, last August, it can be seen that Benton County has cause to return thanks for a couple of money-making crops.

The bulk of both the peach and the apple crop was in the east end of the county. Rogers was in the center of the peach territory, while Pea Ridge, north of Rogers, ten miles, had the best of the apple industry this year. Most of the 17,000 barrels in cold storage at Bentonville came from the Pea Ridge orchards, as well as 5000 barrels that have been sent to Fayetteville. The Rogers plant is full, about 10,000 barrels, and a good many cars from here are also at Fayetteville.

The crop this year was about one-third of a full apple crop, although the biggest crop ever recorded, that of 1901, was only half as large. But there is so much more acreage now and the orchards are being cared for so carefully in most localities that a bumper crop would mean close to 4,000,000 bushels.

Pea Ridge is a splendid example of an apple country that came back. A few years ago the orchards were allowed to run down till that territory was considered almost out of the running as an apple asset of the county. But the orchardists saw a great light and got busy with the sprays and fertilizers and pruned and cultivated until this year they made some apple records that made the rest of the county sit up and take notice.

Ed H. Hall picked 931 barrels of apples from his seven and one-half acres orchard and sold them for $1629.25. Three and one-half acres of older trees netted him $308.

From his thirty-eight acre orchard John Miller sold $3777 of apples and one four-acre tract netted him $225 an acre.

John W. Stoud has forty-three acres of orchard and sold 4400 barrels of apples at top prices. From a single Mammoth Black-twig tree he sold $25 worth of apples.

John Hall had the prize tree however, an Arkansas Black, for he sold twenty-four bushels of high class stock and got $1.50 a bushel.

One of the best showings of the year was that made by the eight acres owned by McMurray brothers, two miles south east of Rogers. Their orchard is 12 years old and the apples are ben davis and ganos, neither of them a fancy apple. They sold their crop in the orchard at $2 a barrel straight and the 940 barrels brought them $1880. Had they held their crop a little longer they could have secured at least 25 cents a barrel more.

One of the best showings by the smaller shipping points in the country was by Avoca, five miles north of Rogers, which shipped 150 cars of green apples, nine cars of dried, nine cars of cider, the latter going to the vinegar factory at Rogers. That means a total of nearly 300,000 bushels used and shipped from this one point.

It has been a pretty good year for the evaporators and there were scores of them in operation all over Benton County. The largest amount of dried fruit held over from last year has kept the prices down some this fall, but most of the dryers have cleaned up at 6 to seven cents and say they made fair money. The dryers and canning factories have given employment to hundreds of people, and there has been work in the orchards for all who wanted it.

Hotel Guests Driven To Street In Night Clothes.

St. Louis, Dec. 28. — Fire ruined a five story building in the heart of the business section here today, causing a loss of $250,000. One hundred and fifty guests were routed in their night clothes by flames, which leaped across the alley and threatened to attack the St. Regis hotel.

Six firemen were injured by showers of burning embers.

The Adams Stamp company, the Harris Shoe company, the McKnight Tailoring company and the Y. M. C. A. downtown restaurant were the principal losers.

Blind Woman Believes Sight Will Return.

That God caused her to be stricken with blindness 40 years ago, in order to compel her to travel and preach the gospel, and that He, within a short time will restore her sight, is the belief of Mrs. Carrie Dunlap of Cario Ill., a blind evangelist, who made a talk at the Working Man's Home, Markham and Center streets, last week.

Mrs. Dunlap declared that God had called her to preach the gospel four years before she became blind. She says she refused to obey the call and lost her sight.

"I have obeyed God's call, and I since received an assurance that he will restore my sight within a short time," Mrs. Dunlap declared.

Mrs. Dunlap chose "Love" as the subject of her talk last week. "The whole world is dying for love," she declared.

Built Wrong.

No one could possibly take a more upside down view of life than does Joseph W. Farling, a little boy who lives in Detroit, Mich. who has furnished what appears to be a puzzle for physicians. He writes, draws and copies everything upside down, and can only make out the subject of a picture when it is held reversed before him. His peculiar vision is even more remarkable since he can see animate and inanimate objects in their normal position at a distance, and manifest his "reverse" only when something is held close to his eyes.

A Stingy Man.

Our readers will pardon us if we let a brother editor give his opinions of a stingy man. We are glad there are none such in our town, but all other towns have them. Our brother editor says if anything on earth that gives him a longing for eternal rest and deep, damp solitude it is a man who comes to town or country, builds up a big paying business, grows rich, and then squats down on the gold like a hen on a door knob and is too stingy even to let the gravel grind his old gizzard. A real, genuine 18 karat stingy, selfish man can't be honest, and if he ever gets to heaven and has wings, he folds them up and walks for fear he will ruffle a plume or lose a tail feather. The kind of men who build up a town and country and enjoy life and make the best citizens, are the enterprising, energetic and liberal men, who believe in living and letting others live; and who do not, when they get a dollar, squeeze it till the Goddess of Liberty feels like she had on a corset. Such squeezing is what causes such hard times and stops the circulation of the American eagle. If it were not for our broad gauged, enterprising men it would be impossible to build up a prosperous city. —Star of Hope.

Government Telegraph.

Efforts to force the national administration into advocating government ownership of the telegraph and telephone lines are not meeting with entire success. The president and postmaster-general are not inclined to push the scheme and are probably opposed to it. There is no reason whatever for the government to take over the telegraph lines and long distance telephone lines as proposed, unless the Socialist idea is to be adopted and it becomes the settled policy of the government to take over the business of the country.

Telegraphing and long distance telephoning are more for the "classes" than for the masses. Thousands of people live through life without receiving a telegram. Quick communication is used mostly by newspapers, speculators and business men. The mails are fast enough in most cases.

This being true some of the newspapers which pay heavy telegraph bills may soon surprise us by telling of the tremendous public demand for ownership of the telegraph lines. Possibly the telegraph lines might be induced to figure closely with the government on a sale. Science is making rapid progress with the wireless and before long it is probable that copper telegraph lines will be as valuable as the stage coach line was when the railroad came to town. —Springfield Leader.

Olga Nethersole and Society in Hiss Duel.

Because Memphis women interrupted her emotional scene in "Sappho" by loud talking, Olga Nethersole stopped her act at the climax of her discourse at the Orpheum Friday afternoon to give vent to several hisses of protest.

"Sappho" was begging her lover not to leave her. Society occupying boxes near the stage, talked. "Sappho," displeased turned her back on her lover, dropped for an instant her stage emotion, discarded dramatics and facing thoughtless society, hissed scornfully and loud. Then she concluded her scene.

The curtain dropped and society greeted the conclusion of the sketch with continued hissing. Miss Nethersole did not appear for a curtain bow.

At the night performance it was necessary to send for the house policeman to quiet the audience before Miss Nethersole would continue her act.

Frisco Lays Off 400 Telegraphers.

Springale, Mo., Dec. 29.—In anticipation of the strike of 1,100 telegraph operators employed on its lines, which in all probability, will be called tomorrow, the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad laid off indefinitely 400 telegraphers and began to transform its telegraph lines into a telephone system for railroad communication.

This action laid bare the company's plans for resisting the strike; to the amazement of the telegraphers. Removal of all telegraph instruments from the company's offices began at noon today and it is expected to be completed before the strike can be decided.

Tomorrow, telephone operators will take the place of the telegraphers. The threatened strike will be forestalled by what virtually amounts to a lockout.

According to E. D. Levy, assistant general manager of the road, every five miles of the Frisco's wires will be guarded by a man, day and night. At all points where it is necessary to give orders to trains, he said, a deputy United States marshal will be on guard to protect the telephone operator.

No strikebreakers will be hired in the event of the strike Mr. Levy said. Telegraph operators will be recruited from the main offices of the company. The only telegraph instruments left on the lines will be one at each of the 24 division points and one at headquarters for the use of the officials in transmitting messages.

When we are at our best a flood of life pours itself out in the simple old words "Good morning"—a flood of meaning which strains to express itself in a thousand ways, but has to be our physical verbal symbols. Our love, our playfulness, our stores of gratitude for the world's past gifts, all that is calling us toward the future comes rushing out in the time-mellowed greeting. The depths of us, the consecrated and imprisoned energy of our inmost life, calls across the distance of the unseen depths of our fellow.—December Atlantic

MUCH RICE LOST BY BAD WEATHER

PRODUCTION IN STATE EQUALS
THAT OF PREVIOUS YEAR,
HOWEVER.

HIGH PRICES BALANCE LOSS

Indications Are That Acreage in 1914
Will Be Larger Than Ever Before.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Stuttgart.—The past season has been very unfavorable for the rice farmers of Arkansas, caused by a long dry growing season and costly irrigation, followed by a wet harvest, heavy loss from overripe shattered grain and damage by water.

From statistics furnished by the Southern Rice Growers' Association the conditions on December 1 were approximately as follows:

At Weiner 50 per cent of the rice cut, very little threshing done.

At Hunter reports showed weather ideal and threshing about half done.

At Wheatley the best rice in that district reported threshed.

At Almyra 65 per cent of the rice threshed, with probably 10 per cent still standing in the fields.

At DeWitt 75 per cent threshed, 40 per cent of the threshed rice being strictly No. 1.

Stuttgart territory showed 75 per cent of the crop threshed. General reports indicate rice production this year as about equal to the 1912 crop.

The acreage seeded to rice in Arkansas for 1913 was, in round numbers, 103,000 acres, which produced above all loss 900,000 bags or 3,600,000 bushels, showing the net crop produced to have been 36 bushels per acre.

With harvesting and marketing conditions handicapped in both Texas and Louisiana on account of unfavorable weather the price this year has been above last year's prices; which in a great many cases more than reimbursed the farmers for the grain lost.

The rice farmers all over the rice-growing territory are placing orders for additional wells and machinery, and from present indications the acreage for 1914 will be considerably above the largest yet sown.

WOMAN CUTS THROAT

"Look What I Am Going to Do," She Tells Neighbor.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Van Buren.—"Look what I am going to do," said Mrs. Pat Simons, 22 years old, as she cut her throat from ear to ear with a butcher knife in the presence of a neighbor Christmas Eve. She lived nearly half an hour, but died before the arrival of a physician from Van Buren.

Mrs. Simons was at the home of her father-in-law, Phil Simons, five miles north of Van Buren. Mrs. Carl Rosengardt, a neighbor, was in the house with her at the time. Mrs. Simons suddenly rushed to the kitchen table and picked up a butcher knife. Mrs. Rosengardt, who is a much older woman, feared to try to take the knife away from Mrs. Simons. Her screams attracted the attention of Mrs. Simons' husband, who was in another part of the house. He ran in as his wife was falling and tore the knife from her hand.

Ill health is believed to be the cause, Mrs. Simons having recently undergone a surgical operation.

FIRES SHOT INTO COACH

Miscreant Gives Passengers Near Conway a Bad Scare.

Conway.—While passenger train No. 119 was passing through Gold Creek, a small station six miles south of Conway, Christmas Day, someone fired a shot from a pistol into a coach. The bullet shattered a window pane, and missed Robert Smith's head by only a few inches. Several other passengers were struck by flying glass, but none was injured seriously. No effort was made by the train crew to capture the miscreant.

Boy Forgets, Shoots Off Thumb.

Mountain Home.—Robert Watts, an 18-year-old boy, who lives here, accidentally shot off his thumb and badly mutilated the rest of his hand. The young man was cleaning a gun. He had extracted the shell and then put it back in the gun after cleaning it. He forgot to lower the hammer, and it exploded while his hand was on the end of the barrel.

WORKMEN FALL INTO RIVER

Drop From Bridge at Van Buren With Derrick Car.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Van Buren.—The second serious accident to occur on the draw span of the Frisco railroad bridge since the work of replacing it with new and much heavier steel began four weeks ago, occurred Christmas morning. The huge derrick car fell into the Arkansas river from the false work in mid-stream, carrying three men imprisoned in the cab of the engine room.

James Kelly, the engineer, suffered a fractured skull and a badly bruised and lacerated back, and was hurried to a Fort Smith hospital on a trolley car.

The cab of the derrick car was practically submerged when the heavy piece of machinery fell into the river. It quickly filled with water and, by the prompt action of the motorboat patrol that is maintained at the point, the engineer was rescued through a window of the cab. The other two men, Joe Dilby, fireman, and George Turner, derrick foreman, were able to climb out of the cab window upon the drift and from that to the broken false work, from which they were removed by other workmen. Dilby received several painful bruises while Turner escaped without a scratch. After he had secured dry clothing he returned to work.

FARMER IS SLAIN BY YOUTH

Renewal of Old Quarrel Results in Tragedy at Hudspeeth.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Dermott.—Mathew Gardner, a farmer of near Hudspeeth, was shot and instantly killed by Eugene Boyd, a youth, at Hudspeeth Christmas Day in a saloon, when an old grudge was renewed.

Young Boyd had come from Blissville for a bottle of wine when he met Gardner, who was said to be under the influence of liquor. Gardner shook hands with Boyd and a few words passed. Gardner, it is alleged, pulled a knife and struck at Boyd, who ward off the blow and dodged behind the bar to escape. Gardner continued to advance with the knife when Boyd, it is said, grabbed a revolver from under the bar and fired one shot, killing Gardner instantly.

Boyd is the son of G. D. Boyd of Blissville.

FARM EXPERT WILL SPEAK

Knapp to Attend Good Roads
Meeting in Little Rock.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—Bradford Knapp, chief of the farm demonstration work of the United States Department of Agriculture, will attend the State Good Roads Association in Little Rock January 14 and 15.

A letter saying that Mr. Knapp would be present at the meeting of the association was received by George R. Brown, secretary of the Board of Trade. Mr. Knapp in this letter said he will be able to be present in Little Rock on both days of the convention, will speak on "Good Roads and Its Relation to Agriculture; the Development of Our Agriculture and the Means of Bringing It About."

Heavy Snow in North Arkansas.

Mammoth Spring.—The heaviest sleet and snowstorm in the history of the town fell at Mammoth Spring, carrying down many telephone poles of the Bell company and blocking traffic. Every available lineman in town was called out and long-distance service was resumed within a short time. The electric light company was tied up. About five inches of snow fell.

Mine Is Storing Coal.

Clarksville.—The Pennsylvania Mining Company at Jamestown continues to operate its mine during the dull season and is storing the coal at the mine. The company now has more than 6,000 tons stored and will continue operations, storing all the coal that it is unable to sell. The company employs 163 men and has the largest pay roll of any company operating in this section.

NIGHT MARSHAL WOUNDED

Is Cut in Head While Trying to Place Farmer Under Arrest.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Camden.—Night Marshal Tom Johnson, known locally as "Pinkerton Detective," was severely wounded by Dock Purifoy, a farmer of this county. Johnson went to the Newton Hotel, by request of the management, to quiet a brawl. When he entered the room a scuffle ensued, and during the squabble, Purifoy cut him in the temple.

REBUKE FOR ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS

PRESIDENT ORDERS THOSE RE-

DINNER REPRIMANDED.

SCORNS THEIR IDEA OF FUN

Copy of Executive's Letter Is Sent to Each Member of Committee Which Prepared Program.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington.—President Wilson has made public a letter addressed to Secretaries Garrison and Daniels, respectively, requesting that "a very serious reprimand" be administered to those army and navy officers who participated in the recent dinner of the military order of the Caraboa, at which the administration's Philippine and other policies were satirized.

"I am told that the songs and other amusements of the evening were intended and regarded as 'fun,'" says the president. "What are we to think of officers of the army and navy of the United States who think it 'fun' to bring their official superiors into ridicule and the policies of the government which they are sworn to serve with unquestioning loyalty into contempt? If this is their idea of fun, what is their idea of duty? If they do not hold their loyalty above all silly effervescences of childish wit, what about their profession? Do they hold it sacred?"

Secretaries Garrison and Daniels decided to administer the reprimand by transmitting a copy of the president's letter to each member of the Entertainment Committee.

Secretary Garrison immediately sent this memorandum to Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army:

"It is hereby ordered that the officers of the United States army who were on the Dinner Committee and therefore were responsible for the program of entertainment at the recent dinner of the Military Order of the Caraboa, held on December 11, 1913, be reprimanded in pursuance of the communication of the president to me, dated December 22, 1913, copy of which should be to furnish each of said officers a copy of the letter from the president."

Secretary Daniels issued a similar order, making the presidential rebuke effective so far as navy officers are concerned.

MAKE AN APPEAL TO WILSON

Anti-Saloon Men Ask President to Urge Prohibition Amendment.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Columbus, O.—President Wilson has been memorialized to ask Congress to submit a constitutional amendment looking to the abolition of the liquor traffic in the country at large. The memorial, signed by a special committee of 25 named at the Anti-Saloon League demonstration on the steps of the capitol in Washington on December 10, was an outgrowth of the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America and other temperance forces held in Columbus November 10-14.

President Wilson was unable to receive the special committee upon the occasion of the Washington demonstration, and the memorial just sent to the White House was issued in lieu of a personal hearing. It asserts in effect that nation-wide prohibition would be an advanced step in the application of the declarations of the Baltimore platform upon which President Wilson was elected.

POSTAL BANK DEPOSITS BIG

More Than $33,000,000 Was in Government Hands June 30, 1913.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington.—Difficulties experienced by postal officials in teaching the people to save and economize are set forth by Third Assistant Postmaster General Dockery in his annual report just made public. Mr. Dockery recommends the institution of a campaign of education by which the people may be brought into closer touch with the postal saving service.

A statement showing the growth of the postal savings bank system is contained in the report. At the close of the first six months of operation there were 11,918 depositors with $677,145 placed to their credit. On June 30, 1913, at the close of two and a half years, there were 331,006 depositors with $33,818,970 to their credit.

AMERICAN AVIATOR EXCELS FEATS OF FRENCH AIRMAN

LINCOLN BEACHEY.

San Francisco.—Lincoln Beachey broke a world's record, looping the loop five consecutive times from a height of 750 feet and landing in a narrow street on the Panama exposition grounds. Beachey turned a double loop at a height of 300 feet, which he says is a record in itself, as Pegoud, the originator of this particular freak of aviation, always has performed from a greater height.

FRISCO FORESTALLS STRIKE ON LINES

LAYS OFF TELEGRAPHERS AND INSTALLS TELEPHONE SYS-TEM.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Springfield, Mo.—In anticipation of the strike of 1,100 telegraphers employed on its lines, the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad laid off indefinitely 400 telegraphers and began to transform its telegraph lines into a telephone system for railroad communication.

According to E. D. Levy, assistant general manager of the road, every five miles of the Frisco's wires will be guarded by a man, day and night. At all points where it is necessary to give orders to trains, he said, a deputy United States marshal will be on guard to protect the telephone oper-

No strikebreakers will be hired, Mr. Levy said. Telegraph operators will be recruited from the main offices of the company. The only telegraph instruments left on the lines will be one at each of the 24 division points and one at headquarters for the use of officials in transmitting messages.

NEW ORLEANS MAN MISSING

T. Walter Danziger, Young Financier, Disappears From His Home.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

New Orleans.—The whereabouts of T. Walter Danziger, young financier and real estate dealer, still are unknown, according to report from police headquarters. Mr. Danziger has been missing for a week. Accountants are engaged in checking up the books of various enterprises in which he was interested. The real estate firm of Danziger & Tessier has been dissolved. Michael Mitchell now is receiver for the Mitchell-Borne Construction Company, in place of Mr. Danziger. St. Clair Adams has been appointed successor to Danziger in the receivership of the Teutonic bank.

COAST STORM TAKES LIVES

Twelve Men Are Lost and Damage
Amounting to $1,000,000 Done.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

New York.—Two men drowned in the East river and ten men—the crews of two barges wrecked on the New Jersey coast—given up as lost, is the cost in human lives of the storm which swept over this city and vicinity.

At Seabright, N. J., a fashionable summer resort, 20 miles south of here, most of the houses have either been wrecked or are under water. Seventy families are homeless. The damage to property is estimated at $1,000,000.

To Investigate Beef Shortage.

Washington.—Secretary of Agriculture Houston has announced the appointment of a special committee of experts to conduct a general inquiry into various factors which contribute to conditions attending the present unsatisfactory meat production in the United States. The announcement prescribes that the committee will investigate "especially in reference to beef, with a view to suggesting possible methods for improvement."

AIM TO INCREASE SCHOOL REVENUES

STATE DIRECTORS' ASSOCIATION WILL MEET IN LITTLE ROCK
JANUARY 29.

CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED

Steps Will Be Taken to Show People Need of More Money for Education.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—It was announced from the office of the State Department of Public Instruction that the Arkansas School Directors' Association will hold a meeting in the department rooms January 29.

This will be the second meeting of the association, which was organized last September, to provide a means to extensively advertise the needs of the schools of the state. John Windham of Texarkana is president and L. B. McClure of Russellville is secretary of the association. The Executive Committee is composed of the two officers and William Kirten, Lake Village; Paul H. Westbrook, Moro, and R. T. Stanfield, Edgmont.

Since the September meeting Superintendent Cook has secured a contribution of funds to conduct a statewide campaign to place before the citizens clearly the definite need of the public schools for increased revenues. Following the January meeting of the directors, their plans, as agreed upon will be carried out with the co-operation of Superintendent Cook and the State Board of Education. It is expected that a large number of districts will be represented at the meeting in Little Rock, January 29th. The invitation is extended to all school directors to be present and to participate in the conference.

PRIZE WINNERS ANNOUNCED

School Children of the State Write on "Why I Like Farm Life."

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—Prizes were offered by State Superintendent Geo. B. Cook for the best compositions on "Why I Like Farm Life." The compositions were to be written by pupils of the public schools, read as part of the program on Agriculture and Rural Life Day, December 5, and sent to the state department for grading.

Over 700 compositions were sent in and the work of grading and comparing has just been completed. The following prize winners are announced:

Girls—First prize, two dollars to Number 30, (name not yet received), Wilton, Ark., O. E. Kolb, teacher. Second prize, one dollar, to Myrtle Simpson, Kevil, Ark., Mrs. Susie Throckmorton, teacher.

Boys—First prize, two dollars, Donald Jones, 13 years, Greenland, Ark., Jno. E. Jones, teacher. Second prize, one dollar, Lewis Moore, Greenwood, R. F. D., No. 1, Ark., Miss Tennie Watson, teacher, Union Grove school.

"This plan," said Mr. Cook, "has proved so successful and the pupils and teachers have shown so much interest, that it will be the policy of this department to offer similar prizes annually. Next year the prizes will be offered, as for this year, a first and second for boys and first and second for girls and the prizes will be larger."

GIVES LAND TO SCHOOL FUND

Malvern Man Presents Deed, With Key to House on Property.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—A donation of two hundred and forty acres of land has just been made to the permanent public school fund of the state by Edward Chesnorge of Malvern.

Mr. Chesnorge called at the State Department of Public Instruction and stated that he desired to place some property in the hands of the trustees of the public school fund. Upon advice of the attorney general, he executed a quitclaim to the real estate and left to be presented to the State Board of Education for acceptance, a homestead certificate for 160 acres and a redemption certificate for 80 acres, tax receipts for the past few years and the quitclaim deed to the state. He also left the key to a house that is on the property and stated that a portion of the land was in cultivation.

BLAME THE MINE OPERATORS

Speakers at Mass Meeting Accuse Owners and Agents of Instigatin Panic Costing 72 Lives.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Chicago.—An appeal to Congress to investigate conditions in the copper country of Michigan was made by the Chicago Federation of Labor in resolutions, which directly charged the owners of the mines and their agents with being responsible for the tragedy of Christmas eve, in Calumet, Mich., when 72 children and adults lost their lives. The resolutions also charged that Houghton county is under a government by gunmen under orders of the mine owners and that Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, was assaulted, shot and driven out of Hancock by thugs and gunmen.

The announcement that the Western Federation of Miners will concentrate its strength on the copper strike was made by Yancey Terzich, a member of the Executive Board. Every member of the board, he said, plans to go to the copper mining regions next week. We are going to win that strike or break up the organization," he said. "As soon as Mr. Moyer is able he will be back there as the leader."

Charles H. Tanner, auditor of the Western Federation of Miners, who, with Moyer, was escorted from Hancock stirred the fire against the Citizens' Alliance. "We have ample evidence," he said. "Half a dozen will testify that the man who called 'fire' in Italian hall wore a Citizens' Alliance button."

MOYER GOES TO HOSPITAL

Miners' Head Declares He Was Shot, and Dragged Through Streets.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Chicago.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and now the central figure of the copper miners' strike in the Calumet region, who arrived in Chicago with a graphic account of the dramatic incident in which he declares he was shot, mobbed and deported from the copper district, collapsed soon after his arrival as the result of his wounds and was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Mr. Moyer declares that he was shot, beaten, threatened with death and dragged through the streets of Hancock, Mich. He blamed the mining companies involved in the strike, which has been in progress in the Calumet copper district for the last five months. He asserted the attack upon him followed his refusal to retract a statement he had made that the Citizens' Alliance deliberately had plotted the panic which caused the deaths of 74 persons in Italian Hall at Calumet Christmas eve while the families of the striking miners were celebrating Christmas.

Dispatches from Calumet said that Moyer's story had been investigated and found to lack verification. In the dispatches it was said that no shots were fired in Hancock and that no one saw Moyer dragged through the streets.

HUERTA MUST QUIT COUNTRY

This Is Only Chance for Peace, Declares Rebel Chief.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Chihuahua, Mexico.—"Nothing less than the fall of Huerta and his banishment from the country will ever be considered as a preliminary toward peace in Mexico," said General Francisco Villa. Any overtures for a compromise would be treated with contempt by the Revolutionists.

General Villa was prompted to discuss the subject because of the repetition of a report from Mexico City that General Huerta might resign in favor of a member of his cabinet. As the report also states that General Huerta was talking of taking the field against the rebels, it was not considered in any way as a possible peace move.

Opinions of General Villa's advisers were that General Huerta would not resign and that the rebels must adhere to their original plan of fighting their way to Mexico City.

Testimonial From High Authority

Mrs. B. L. Wilson of Nashville, Tenn., is famed the world over for her wonderfully delicious cakes. They are shipped to all parts of the globe for special affairs where the best of cakes are demanded.

Mrs. Wilson has the distinction of baking Christmas cakes for the Presidents, in which she uses Calumet Baking Powder.

She states: "To have complete success, with no failures, care should be used in the selection of Baking Powder."

Calumet is complimented with the following testimonial from her: "Some little time ago I made a careful study and investigation of the baking powder subject and I feel fully repaid. I am firmly convinced from the results I have received that there is no baking powder to equal Calumet for wholesomeness and economy, and I also recommend Calumet Baking Powder for its never failing results."

Calumet also received the Highest Awards at the World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Grand Prize and Gold Medal, Paris Exposition, 1912.

This will, without a doubt, prove interesting and very gratifying to the friends and customers of Calumet Baking Powder. It has always been found that Calumet is economical to use.—Adv.

Peculiar Reasoning.

"Uncle Bill" James, an eccentric but honest old gentleman of a certain country in a southern state, by hard work and much self-denial, had managed to save up and deposit $500 in the bank in the town near his home. One morning, a neighbor, thinking to have some fun, told the old gentleman that the bank had failed. Grabbing his old pistol, "Uncle Bill" was soon at the bank. Presenting his weapon at the cashier's head, he demanded the $500 that he had deposited.

"Certainly," said the cashier, as he began counting out the money.

"Uncle Bill" eyed the proceedings for a moment, and then his mouth fell open. "H-h-hold on a minute," he said. "H-have you got the money?"

"Of course I have," answered the cashier, as he went on counting it out.

"Well," said the old man, "if you've got it I don't want it, but, by gum, if you haint got it I want it, and I'm shore goin' ter have it!"

ITCHING, BURNING ERUPTION

Thomasville, Ala.—"I suffered with eczema on my hands and feet two or three years. About eleven years ago I became troubled with an itching, burning eruption which came on my hands and feet in little water blisters and in about a day or two when I would let the water out or wash it out, using my hands, then the places would fester and itch to beat the band. I could not do any work that was rough on my hands at all. It caused me great suffering and inconvenience.

"I tried everything that I knew of or was told and never was really relieved until I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I would wash the parts in water with the Cuticura Soap and then when I dried them I would apply the Cuticura Ointment on the surface in the daytime, and at night I would get a soft piece of cloth and apply the Cuticura Ointment on my hands and let it stay that way all night. A perfect cure was effected. No one will ever know how glad I was to get my hands and feet cured." (Signed) Geo. C. Crook, Nov. 25, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Keep an Eye on Mother.

Judge Latimer, in charge of the juvenile court at Washington, tells a good one on a wee youngster. This little girl was taught to close her evening prayer during the absence of her father, a traveling salesman, with, "And please watch over papa!"

It sounded very sweet to the mother, listening outside the door, until one evening the latter's amazement may be imagined when the child added:

"And you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too."—Sunday Magazine of the Chicago Record-Herald.

Doan's Kidney Pills—nothing to injure nor cause a habit. Delicate women can use them with perfect safety.

The following case is typical of the cures effected by Doan's Kidney Pills. Grateful testimony is the best evidence.

SAVED HER LIFE Made Well After Doctors Failed

Mrs. John Brumley, 114 12th St., Greeley, Colo., says: "I believe I would be in my grave if I hadn't used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first sign of kidney trouble was a constant ache in my back. I dragged along, day after day, feeling too tired to attempt my housework. Then came frequent dizzy spells that made me weak for hours. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and very distressing. My feet ached and swelled until I could hardly stand. The swelling extended upwards to my limbs and hips. For three months I hardly slept enough to keep me alive. I was awfully nervous and irritable. My case puzzled the doctors and their medicine didn't help me. A relative had been cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills and advised me to try them. I did and the results were wonderful. The backache stopped, the swelling went away and I rested better. The kidney secretions got all right and once more I enjoyed good health. Recently the kidney secretions were analyzed by the doctor and he found no signs of kidney complaint. Doan's Kidney Pills alone cured me."

LAWYER EVIDENTLY A YOUTH

No Man to Whom Years Had Brought Wisdom Would Have Asked Such a Superfluous Question.

A Chicago lawyer recently received a call from a very well-groomed, stylish young person.

"Sir," said she, "I am in great distress."

"Please state your case, miss."

"The difficulty is this: I have received three proposals of marriage, and I do not know which to accept."

After a painful pause, the lawyer, more in facetiousness than anything else, asked:

"Which man has the most money?"

The young woman shrugged her shoulders. "Do you imagine," she asked, "that if I knew I would consult you or any other lawyer?"

"Pape's Diapepsin" cures sick, sour stomachs in five minutes
—Time It!

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.—Adv.

MAKES REFORMS IN CURRENCY SYSTEM

New Money Measure Is Most Important Law Relating to Finance Enacted in Many Years—Salient Features of the Code Succinctly Explained.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The new bill affecting the currency, banking and finances of the country is one of the most far-reaching measures relating to finance that have been enacted in many years.

The magnitude of the subject, the diversity of interests affected and the length of the debates in both branches of congress has to follow the changes and grasp the essentials of this highly technical measure in its important bearings on money, finance, banking and the entire range of fiscal subjects, public and private, which it affects.

Summary of the Bill.

With a view, therefore, of presenting succinctly and in non-technical language an epitome of the salient features of the measure as finally framed, the following summary is given of the bill as a whole and of its principal details:

Generally speaking, the first steps to be taken to bring into operation the nation's new financial system will be through an organization committee consisting of the secretary of the treasury, secretary of agriculture and controller of the currency.

Banks have 60 days within which to file their applications for membership in the new system, and one year's time is allowed before the government will compel the dissolution of any national bank that refuses to join.

Will "Take Up the Slack."

The new law will make little direct change in the operation of the present national banks, except to allow them to loan a certain amount of their funds upon farm mortgages.

Its chief purpose is to add a new piece of machinery to the banking system that will "take up the slack" during the changing business conditions of each year; that will give the banks a place to quickly convert their assets into cash in time of need, and that will bring out new federal currency when it is needed, and retire it when money becomes "cheap."

Banks are now required to keep a certain percentage of their deposits as "reserves," part in cash in their own vaults and part of which may be re-deposited in the banks of New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other designated cities.

In times of sudden financial demands, when banks have loaned up to the full limit of their resources, these reserves furnish little relief, because if they are paid out to meet demands the banks are left in a precarious condition.

Basic Principle of Law.

The basic principle of the new law is to get these reserve funds out into circulation when necessary without lessening the safety of any bank, and to provide a place to which local banks may rush in a crisis and get cash for the "prime commercial paper" they hold in their vaults.

This is to be accomplished through a chain of regional reserve banks, or "reservoirs of reserves," in which all banks shall deposit a stated part of the money they are required to hold as reserves.

Under the new system, when a financial flurry comes the banks can take commercial paper, such as notes, drafts and bills of exchange, to these "reservoirs," and secure the use of their own reserves, or, if necessary, even the reserve of other banks, by depositing this security.

The new regional banks will receive about one-half of the bank reserves of the country. They in turn will be permitted to loan back to the banks all but 35 per cent. of these reserves, so that in case of emergency millions of cash can be brought out into circulation quickly.

The banks will have to pay for these loans, however, as individuals have to pay for a loan from any local bank, and this charge is expected to prevent the too free use of the reserves held by the regional banks.

New Paper Currency.

A new form of paper currency is also provided for, to come out in case of emergency, and which is expected to go back into the hands of the government when times are normal. These "treasury notes" will be printed by the government and issued through each regional reserve bank, and will bear the guarantee both of the regional bank and of the government. The following analysis presents the details of the new law without adhering closely to the technical division or language of the measure:

At the head of the system will stand a federal reserve board at Washington, appointed by the president, and to consist of the secretary of the treasury, the controller of the currency and five other members. Two of these shall be expert bankers, but none shall have banking affiliations or own bank stock during their service. This board will exercise general control over the entire system.

The temporary "organization committee," or the federal reserve board, will select from eight to twelve cities where regional reserve banks shall be located and will divide the entire country geographically with these cities as the centers of districts. All national banks in a district will be required to subscribe for the stock of the regional reserve bank in that district and to keep a portion of their reserves there.

Known as "Member Banks."

Local banks will be known as "member banks" because they will own the stock of the regional reserve bank of their district. Each member bank will be required to take capital stock of the regional reserve bank, equal to 6 per cent. of the member bank's capital and surplus. The capital of the regional bank will increase or decrease so that it always represents 6 per cent. of the combined capital and surplus of all the banks of the district that have joined the system.

National banks are compelled to join and state banks are permitted to if they bring their reserve requirements up to the standard set for national banks and submit to national examinations.

Public Can Buy Stock.

Public ownership of the stock of the regional reserve banks is permitted only in case enough banks do not join in any district to provide a capital stock of $4,000,000. In such event the public may purchase the stock in quantities limited to $25,000 for each individual, but the voting of this stock will be placed in the hands of government representatives on the board of directors of the regional reserve bank.

The regional reserve banks may do business only with their member banks, not with the public, except that certain "open market operations" such as the purchase and sale of gold, government, or municipal bonds, and certain forms of bills of exchange, are permitted. These banks will make their earnings from the loans made to member banks, and from the purchase and sale of bonds and foreign bills of exchange.

Must Put Up Cash.

Member banks will be compelled to put up in cash only one-half of their subscription to the capital of the new banks, the rest can be called for if needed by the regional bank. Dividends of 6 per cent. will be paid on this stock to the member banks, and the stock will be non-taxable.

After these dividends are paid one-half of the surplus net earnings goes to create a regional surplus fund, and when this has reached 40 per cent. of the regional bank's paid in capital these earnings are to go into the United States treasury. The balances of the net earnings are to be paid to the United States as a franchise tax.

With the machinery thus created for a new banking system that is supplementary to the commercial banks of the country, the law provides for a gradual transfer of part of the bank reserves to these new "reservoir" banks.

In order not to disturb business conditions, or to withdraw too suddenly the heavy deposits of country banks in the large cities, the law provides that three years may be consumed in shifting these balances and that, if necessary, part of the reserves transferred to the regional banks may consist of commercial paper.

The amount of reserve required from every bank under the new law, and the place where it must be kept, are as follows:

Country banks—Total reserve required, 15 per cent. of demand deposits and 5 per cent. of time deposits. Five-twelfths must be held in the bank's own vaults for two years and four-twelfths after that. For the first year two-twelfths must be kept in the regional bank, increasing one-twelfth each six months thereafter until it reaches five-twelfths of the total reserve. For three years the unallotted part of the reserve may be kept in the banks of reserve cities. After that time it must be kept either in the country banks and vaults or in the regional reserve bank.

Reserve city banks—Total reserve required, 15 per cent. of demand and 5 per cent. of time deposits. Six-fifteenths must be kept in the bank's vaults for the first two years and five-fifteenths after that time. Three-fifteenths must be kept in the regional reserve bank for the first year, increasing one-fifteenth every six months thereafter until it reaches six-fifteenths. For three years the unallotted portion of the reserve may be kept in other banks, in its own vaults, or in the regional bank; after that time in one of the latter two places.

Regional Reserve Banks.

These immense funds of reserves from "member banks," together with government moneys, will make up the deposits of the regional reserve banks. Each of these banks will be administered by a board of nine directors, six of whom will be elected by the banks, and three appointed by the federal reserve board.

The regional reserve banks may re-discount—that is, buy at a discount from its member banks—"prime commercial paper" when the member banks desire to convert these assets into money.

Character of Paper.

The exact terms of this important provision as to the character of paper upon which the regional reserve banks may furnish cash are as follows:

"Upon the indorsement of any of its member banks, with a waiver of demand notice and protest by such banks, and federal (regional) reserve bank may discount notes, drafts, and bills of exchange arising out of actual commercial transactions; that is, notes, drafts, and bills of exchange issued or drawn for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes, or the proceeds of which have been used, or are to be used, for such purposes, the federal reserve board to have the right to determine or define the character of the paper thus eligible for discount, within the meaning of this act.

Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to prohibit such notes, drafts and bills of exchange, secured by staple agricultural products, or other goods, wares, or merchandise, from being eligible for such discount; but such definition shall not include notes, drafts, or bills covering merely investments or issued or drawn for the purpose of carrying or trading in stocks, bonds or other investment securities, except bonds and notes of the government of the United States.

The "Elastic" Element.

The new treasury notes, which are to furnish the "elastic" element in the currency system, and to add to the country's circulating money in time of need, will come into use in the following way:

The notes will be printed by the government with a distinctive style for each regional reserve bank. One of the three directors named by the federal reserve board for each regional bank will be known as the "federal reserve agent" for that bank, and a supply of the notes will be placed in his custody.

Should a regional bank desire to pay out more money than its cash resources will permit, the law provides that it may put some of its rediscounted commercial paper into the hands of the "federal reserve agent," and received in return the new treasury notes.

For each note that it puts out into circulation, the regional reserve bank must set aside in gold 40 per cent. of the value of the note as a guarantee for its redemption. This gold, with the commercial paper held by the "federal reserve agent," is the protection behind the new money; but these notes will also be guaranteed by the government and may be redeemed in gold in the United States treasury.

Each regional bank, under the act, must keep a reserve of 35 per cent. of the deposits it has received, besides the 40 per cent. gold reserve behind the treasury notes it issues. If the gold reserve behind the notes falls below 40 per cent. a heavy tax is imposed on the bank, which in turn adds the tax to the rate it charges member banks for rediscounts. This was designed to stop an over-expansion of currency. In times of sudden stress the federal reserve board can suspend these reserve provisions, in order to furnish quick relief to any community.

Take Up Bonds.

None of the existing forms of currency except the national bank notes will be disturbed by the new law. The United States bonds, now used to secure the issue of national bank notes, are to be taken up at the rate of $25,000,000 a year by the regional reserve banks and new treasury notes or short term three per cent. bonds will take their place. National bank currency is expected gradually to retire.

The federal reserve board will exercise final control over the entire operation of the system. It can compel one regional bank to loan to another in time of need; can suspend all restrictions surrounding the reserves which regional banks must hold, and can remove directors of regional reserve banks whenever it is believed necessary.

Banks in Control.

While the banks retain control of the boards of the regional reserve banks, their connection with the federal reserve board is only through an advisory council, made up of one representative from each federal reserve district. This council will meet in Washington to confer with the federal reserve board "on general business conditions" and to make recommendations and suggestions concerning discount rates, note issues, and reserve conditions.

An important change in national banking methods embraced in the new law will permit all national banks except those in New York, Chicago and St. Louis to make direct loans on five year farm mortgages up to 25 per cent. of their capital and surplus, or up to one-third of their time deposits.

XMAS CHEER FOR CONVICTS

State's Prisoners Are Given Big Dinner—Many Granted Freedom.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—The Christmas cheer which was prevalent throughout Arkansas to an even greater extent this year than ever before was not withheld even from the state convicts. Under the personal direction of the Board of Penitentiary Commissioners, a bountiful Christmas dinner was served to all the convicts, including about 860 at the state farm at Cummins, 102 at the rock crusher now being operated by the state highway department and about 60 confined in the penitentiary in this city.

The board bought 1,500 pounds of turkey and cranberries, apples, oranges and cakes in similar proportion and each convict was given, besides his dinner, a bag containing candy, apples and oranges to take to his quarters.

Commissioner T. P. Murrey spent the day at the rock crusher, Commissioner J. V. Ferguson at the penitentiary and Commissioner J. A. Bradsher at the farm.

The hearts of about 35 convicts were gladdened by their being given their freedom as Christmas gifts. Governor Hays granted 15 Christmas pardons on condition that the pardons should become void if the recipients ever again violate a state law. The penitentiary board granted paroles to twenty convicts who were believed to be deserving of an opportunity to begin life anew. The men were all given their freedom on the day before Christmas so that they might spend Christmas day at home with their families.

MENA MEN ARE PARDONED

Poker Players Who "Lied Like Gentlemen" Given Freedom.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—Before leaving to spend Christmas at his home at Camden, Governor Hays pardoned E. R. Lyman and Harvey Ridley, both of Mena, who were under sentence of one year each for perjury.

Lyman and Ridley maintained that they had been sent to the penitentiary because they kept their agreement "to lie like gentlemen," an agreement which they said their supposed friends, business and professional men of supposedly high standing in Mena, did not keep.

Lyman was the proprietor of a saloon in Mena. He said that two well-known professional men came to his place and proposed a game of poker. Lyman demurred that they might get into trouble, but the others insisted. Ridley was also induced to join in the game. Before starting, Lyman said, they made an agreement that in case they should be called before the Grand Jury all should "lie like gentlemen," and declare that no poker had been played.

Later, all were summoned before the Grand Jury, as Lyman had feared. Lyman and Ridley kept their agreement, and declared that no poker had been played. Lyman and Ridley declare that their companions, the supposedly respectable professional men, confessed to everything and later took the witness stand and helped to convict Lyman and Ridley of perjury. For their testimony, the others were set free.

Both men were paroled from the penitentiary last September. Neither could leave the state under the terms of his parole, and as this worked a hardship on the men, Governor Hays decided that both had been sufficiently punished and gave them their absolute freedom as a Christmas gift.

ARNOLD WINS RHODES PRIZE

Texarkana Youth Is Awarded Scholarship in Cambridge.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Little Rock.—The Rhodes Scholarship Commission has selected W. H. Arnold Jr. of Texarkana as the Rhodes scholar for the year from Arkansas. Competing with Mr. Arnold was A. W. McCain of Jonesboro and both so well merited the appointment that great difficulty was experienced in making the selection, according to members of the commission.

Mr. Arnold is a senior of Harvard and Mr. McCain a senior of Washington and Lee University.

Mr. Arnold is the son of W. T. Arnold, a well-known attorney of Texarkana.

The Rhodes Commission is composed of the following members: Prof. John C. Futrell, president of the University of Arkansas; Judge E. A. McCulloch, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; George B. Cook and Prof. J. H. Reynolds, president of Hendrix College.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Adv.

Chilling Grace.

The leading church in a certain town in Indiana recently acquired as its pastor a grave and solemn divine from Boston.

Shortly after his arrival the new minister dined with the town's leading merchant. The effect upon the family of the Bostonian's solemn demeanor is best evidenced by a remark in which thereto made by the eight-year-old boy of the house.

That night, as the lad's mother was bidding him good-night, he said: "Ma, it took a long time, didn't it, to feel cheerful again after Doctor Blank had said grace?"

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make It Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove Dandruff—Real Surprise for You.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine" hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store and just try it. Adv.

Don't ever be in doubt about a Christmas present. Take a sporting chance and buy one anyway.

Parisian barbers say men are to wear hair ribbons, but how is a bald-headed man to keep his on?

Most of us hail Christmas with considerable gusto, but just the same, we are glad when it is over.

Blessed is the man who donates a stocking to a home in want and does not forget to put something in it.

Of course it was the kaiser who said "a real man wears a mustache!" You'd guess it from his picture.

A Chicago man is said to live on fifteen cents a day. That's nothing. Some men live on their relatives.

We don't "recognize" Huerta,
but we talk about him and cuss him out just like an acquaintance of long standing.

Bill Sulzer and Tom Marshall will be featured on the chautauqua. Why not? Billy Bryan tried his hand at it.

A man seldom realizes how many friends he hasn't got, until he is broke and wants to borrow. Then he finds out.

Down in Mexico it takes a rebel to hate a rebel: Villa wants to kill Orocozo, and no doubt Orocozo reciprocates the tender sentiments.

Women To Enforce Cold Storage Laws.

A recent dispatch from New York City, contains the following: Members of the 'Housewives' league will help the state health department to enforce the new cold storage regulations by acting as volunteer inspectors.

The department through its attorneys, Joseph A. Warren accepted their services because it is said the law failed to provide enough inspectors for its enforcement. The volunteers will serve without compensation.

Four women led by Mrs. Julia Heath, head of the league have promised their services. Mrs.
Heath said today that the league was ready to furnish as many more volunteer inspectors as were needed.

In accordance with the new law the state health department has notified all persons and firms retailing cold storage products that they must display promi-nently a card inscribed: "Notice to customers—Cold storage food is sold here. It is a misdemeanor to sell cold storage food without representing it as such. Consumers are advised to inquire of the salesman in each case in reference to the character of report in cases of misrepresentation to the state commissioner of health.

The Difference

Longfellow could take a sheet of paper worth one-tenth of a cent, write a poem on it and make it worth $5,000. That is genius.

Rockefeller could take a similar sheet of paper,
write a few words on it and make it worth $10,000,000. That's capital.

The U. S. Government can take an ounce and a small fraction of gold, stamp the eagle on it, and make it worth $20. That's money.

A skilled workman can take 3 cents' worth of steel, make it into watch springs and make it worth $4,000. That is skill.

A merchant can take an article that costs him
90 cents, and sell it for $1.00. That's business.

A woman can buy a good gown for $10, but prefers one that costs $100. That's foolishness.

A miner can dig a ton of coal for less than I would want to. That's labor.

The man who misses every chance to improve his opportunities can write a check for $1,000,- 000, but it would not be worth 90 cents. That's tough.

There are men who will tell you that they can give you as good Printing as I can, and even do better. THAT'S GALL.

A ROMANCE OF STRENUOUS AFFECTION

SYNOPSIS.

Cowboys of the Flying Heart ranch are heartbroken over the loss of their much-prized phonograph by the defeat of their champion in a foot-race with the cook of the Centipede ranch. A house party is on at the Flying Heart. J. Wallingford Speed, cheer leader at Yale, and Culver Covington, inter-collegiate champion runner, are expected. Helen Blake, Speed's sweetheart, suggests to Jean Chapin, sister of the owner of the ranch, that she induce Covington, her lover, to win back the phonograph. Helen declares that if Covington won't run, Speed will. The cowboys are hilarious over the prospect. Speed and his valet, Larry Glass, trainer at Yale, arrive. Helen Blake asks Speed, who has posed to her as an athlete, to race against the Centipede man. The cowboys join in the appeal to Wally, and fearing that Helen will find him out, he consents. He insists, however, that he shall be entered as an unknown, figuring that Covington will arrive in time to take his place. Fresno, glee club singer from Stanford university and in love with Helen, tries to discredit Speed with the ladies and the cowboys. Speed and Glass put in the time they are supposed to be training playing cards in a secluded spot. The cowboys tell Glass it is up to him to see that Speed wins the race. Willie, the gunman, declares the trainer will go back east packed in ice, if Speed fails. A telegram comes from Covington saying he is in jail at Omaha for ten days. Glass in a panic forces Speed to begin training in earnest. The cowboys force Speed to eat in the training quarters and prepare him a diet of very rare meat. Miss Blake bakes a cake for Speed and is offended when Larry refuses to allow him to eat it. Covington arrives on crutches. He says he broke his toe in Omaha. Mrs. Keap, engaged to Covington and in love with Jack Chapin, exposes Speed to Helen, because Speed had failed to prevent Covington from joining the party.

CHAPTER XV.—Continued.

"Will you marry me?" asked J. Wallingford Speed.

"The idea!" Miss Blake gasped.

"Will you?"

"Please don't speak that way. When a man cares for a woman, he doesn't deceive her—he tells her everything. You told me you were a great runner, and I believed you. I'll never believe you again. Of course, I shall behave to you in a perfectly friendly manner, but underneath the surface I shall be consumed with indignation." Miss Blake commenced to be consumed.

"See! You don't acknowledge your perjury even now."

"What's the use? If I said I couldn't run, and then beat the cook, you'd believe I deceived you again. And suppose that I can't beat him?"

"Then I shall know they have told me the truth."

"And if, on the other hand, I should win?" Miss Blake's eyes fell—"Helen, would you marry me?" Speed started toward her, but she had fled out into the twilight.

Dusk was settling over stretches of purple land, and already the room was peopled by shadows. Work was over; there were sounds of cheerful preparations for supper; from the house came faint chords of laughter.

It was the hush that precedes the evening as it does the dawn; the hour of reverie, in which all music is sweet, and forgotten faces arise to haunt.

"I Love You!" Wally Said.

Speed stood where the girl had left him, miserable, hopeless, helpless. And certainly his love was lost. He had stayed on in the stubborn superstitious belief that something would surely happen to relieve him from his predicament—fortune had never failed him before—and instead, every day, every incident, had served to involve him deeper. Now she knew! It was her golden heart that had held her true thus far, but could any devotion survive the sight of humiliation such as he would suffer on the morrow? Already he heard the triumphant jeers of the Centipede henchmen, the angry clamor of the Flying Heart, the mocking laughter of his rival.

He groaned aloud. Forsooth, a broken toe! Of all the countless tens of thousands of toes in Christendom, the one he had hung his salvation upon had proven weaker than a reed. What cruel jest of Fate was this? If Fate had wished to break a toe why had she not selected, out of all the billions at her disposal, that of some other athlete than Culver Covington—even his own.

J. Wallingford Speed started suddenly and paled. He had remembered that no one could force a crippled man to run.

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "I'll do it!" He crossed quickly to the bunkhouse door and looked in. The room was empty. The supper-bell pealed out, and he heard the cow-men answer it. Now was the appointed moment; he might have no other. With cat-like tread he slipped into the sleeping-quarters, returning in a moment with a revolver. He stared thankfully at the weapon—better this than dishonor.

"Why didn't I think of it before? It's perfectly simple. I'll accidentally shoot myself—in the foot!"

But even as he gazed at the gun he saw that the muzzle was as large as a gopher-hole. A bullet of that size would sink a ship, he meditated in a panic, and as for his foot—what frightful execution it would work! But—it were better to lose a foot than a foot-race, under present conditions, so he began to unlace his shoe. Then realizing the value of circumstantial evidence, he paused. No! His disability must bear all the earmarks of an accident. He must guess the location of his smallest and least important toe, and trust the rest to his marksmanship. Visions of blood-poisoning beset him, and when he pressed the muzzle against the point of his shoe his hand shook with such a palsy that he feared he might miss. He steeled himself with the thought that other men had snuffed out life itself in this manner, then sat down upon the floor and cocked the weapon a second time. He wondered if the shock might, by any chance, numb him into unconsciousness. If so, he might bleed to death before assistance arrived. But he had nothing to do with that. The only question was, which foot. He regarded them both tenderly. They were nice feet, and had done him many favors. He loved every toe; they were almost like innocent children. It was a dastardly deed to take advantage of them thus, but—he advanced the revolver until it pressed firmly against the outside of his left foot, then closed his eyes, and called upon his courage. There came a great roaring in his ears.

How long he sat thus waiting for the explosion he did not know, but he opened his eyes at length to find the foot still intact, and the muzzle of the weapon pointing directly at his instep. He altered his aim hurriedly, when, without warning of any sort, a man's figure appeared silhouetted against the window.

The figure dropped noiselessly to the floor inside the room, and cried, in a strange voice:

"Lock those doors! Quick!"

Finding that it was no hallucination, Speed rose, calling out:

"Who are you?"

"Sh-h-h!" The stranger darted across the room and bolted both doors, while the other felt a chill of apprehension at these sinister precautions. He grasped his revolver firmly while his heart thumped. The fellow's appearance was anything but reassuring; he was swarthy and sun-browned, his clothes were ragged, his overalls were patched; instead of a coat, he wore a loosely flapping vest over a black sateen shirt, long since rusted out to a nondescript brown.

"I've been trying to get to you for a week," announced the mysterious visitor hoarsely.

"What do you want? Who are you?"

"I'm Skinner, cook for the Centipede."

"The man I race?"

"Not so loud." Skinner was straining for the faintest sound from the direction of the mess-house.

"I'll kill him!" exclaimed the Eastern lad. But the other forestalled a murder by running on, rapidly:

"Listen, now! Hump and I jobbed this gang last month; we're partners, see? He's got another race framed at Pocastello, and I want to make a get-away—"

"Yes! yes! y-you needn't stay here—on my account."

"Now don't let's take any chances to-morrow, see? We're both out for the coin. What do you want to do—win or lose?" Skinner jumped back to the door and listened.

"What?"

"Don't stall!" the stranger cried, impatiently. "Will I win or will you? What's it worth?" He clipped his words short, his eyes darted furtive glances here and there.

"Can I win?" gasped Speed.

"You can if there's enough in it for me. I'm broke, see? You bet five hundred, and we'll cut it two ways."

"I—I haven't that much with me."

"Borrow it. Don't be a boob. Meet me in Albuquerque Sunday, and we'll split there."

"Is that all I have to do?"

"Certainly. What's the matter with you, anyhow?" Skinner cast a suspicious glance at his companion.

"I—I guess I'm rattled—it's all so sudden."

"Of course you'll have to run fast enough so we don't tip off."

"How fast is that?"

"Oh, ten-four," carelessly. "That's what Humpy and I did."

"Ten and four-fifths—seconds?"

"Certainly. Don't kid me! They're liable to break in on us."

"Mr. Skinner, I—I can't run that fast. Fifteen is going some for me."

"What!" Skinner stared at his opponent strangely.

"That's right. I'm a lemon."

"Ain't you the Yale champ? The guy that goes under 'even time'?"

Wally shook his head. "I'm his chum. I couldn't catch a cramp."

sprinter split into a grin, his eyes gleamed. "Then I'll win," said he. "I'm the sucker, but I'll make good. Get your money down, and I'll split with you."

"No, no! Not you! Me! I must win!" Speed clutched his caller desperately.

"All right, I'll frame anything; but I can't run any slower than I did with Joe and make a live of it. They'd shoot us both."

"But there's a girl in this—a girl I love. It means more than mere life."

Skinner was plainly becoming nervous at the length of the interview.

"Couldn't you fall down?" inquired the younger man, timidly.

The cook laughed derisively. "I could fall down twice and beat you in fifteen." After an instant's thought:

"Say, there's one chance, if we don't run straight away. There's a corral out where we race; you insist on running around it, see? There's nothing in the articles about straightaways."

STONES THAT GET TOGETHER

Peculiar Conduct of Some Pebbles Is Attributed to Material of Which They Are Composed

An English naturalist has lately given some interesting accounts of oddities found in this country, and chief among them is the traveling stone, the size of a pea ordinarily, and yet sometimes reaching six inches in diameter. He came across it in Nevada, where it is most frequent.

It is really the queerest little stone in the world, for when a number of them are placed on the floor or on any level surface and separated some distance from each other they begin to travel toward a common center and to lie huddled together like eggs in a nest.

If a single stone is removed four or five feet from the rest it will immediately start with the greatest rapidity to join its fellows.

These stones are found oftentimes where the land is very level and little more than bare rock. Often scattered over these barren regions are little basins from a few feet to a rod in width and at the bottom of these basins the rolling stones are found.

The cause for the strange conduct is to be found in the material of which the stones are composed, and which is a loadstone or a magnetic ore, which has the tendency to draw them together.

Brittany's Hair Harvest.

It is at Easter time that the curious "hair harvest" of Brittany is "reaped" by the traveling merchants, who go from village to village buying the beautiful hair for which the Breton belles are famous. This is later destined to be made up into "transformations," "fringes" and other mysterious arrangements with which ladies less abundantly endowed by nature make up their shortcomings in the matter of "woman's crowning glory." The clients of the hair buyers are chiefly country lasses in the remote districts, who are only too pleased to sell their tresses in order to obtain a little money to spend at the Easter fairs. The "harvest," however, is said not to be so good as formerly, as with the spread of education and the love of display many girls prefer That'll kid 'em on the time. If I get too far ahead, I'll fall down."

"B-but will you stay down? Till I catch up?"

"Sure! Leave it to me."

"You won't forget, or anything like that?"

"Certainly not. But no rough work in front of the cowboys, understand? Sh-h!"

Skinner vaulted lightly through the window, landing in the dirt outside without a sound. "Somebody coming," he whispered. "Understand: Merchants' Hotel, Albuquerque, noon, Sunday." And the next instant he had vanished into the dusk, leaving behind him a youth half hysterical with hope.

Out of the blackest gloom had come J. Wallingford Speed's deliverance, telling me about this foot-race. What in the deuce is the matter with you, anyhow? Why didn't you let me know?"

The girls drew closer, and Speed saw that Miss Blake was pale.

"I wouldn't have allowed it for a minute. Now, of course, I'm going to call it off."

"Oh, Jack, dear, you simply can't!" exclaimed his sister. "You've no idea the state the boys are in."

"They'll never let you, Chapin," supplemented Fresno.

The master laughed shortly. "They and he did not pause to consider the ethics involved. With light heart he hastened to replace the borrowed revolver in the bunk-room just as voices coming nearer betokened the arrival of his friends from the house. As he stepped out into the night he came upon Jack Chapin.

"Hello, Wally!"

"Hello, Jack!" They shook hands, while the owner of the Flying Heart continued.

"I've just got in, and they've been won't, eh? Who is boss here, I'd like to know?"

"They've bet a lot of money. And you know how they feel about that phonograph."

"It's the most idiotic thing I ever heard of. Whatever possessed you, Wally? If the men make a row, I'll have to smuggle you and Glass over to the railroad to-night."

"I'm for that," came the voice of Larry.

"I suppose it's all my fault," Miss Blake began wretchedly, whereat the object of their general solicitude took on an aspect of valor.

Disturbed Bank; Lost Life's Savings.

Distrust of "those hyar newfangled savin' banks" cost an old negro man his savings of many years, when his home was robbed while he and his wife were at church one Sunday night recently, and thieves took from a tin cracker box a roll of bills which he says amounted to over $700.

The dandy, whose name is W. M. Stamps, found on returning home from church that the front door of his house had been broken down and the little desk in which the money box was concealed, had been dragged out in an adjoining alley.—Atlanta Constitution.

Where Poverty Hurts.

Charles Tellier, the inventor of cold storage, is a Frenchman of eighty-five years, and having been discovered in a state of abject poverty, Mr. Tellier was recently decorated and pensioned by the French government.

In the course of an interview with a New York correspondent, Mr. Tellier talked with grim humor about poverty.

"The advantages of poverty are overrated," he said. "The rich declare that poverty brings out a man's good points. Well so it does—by the roots."

"CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

No sick headache, biliousness, bad taste or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your store. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipation. Adv.

Businesslike Suitor.

"No-o, he isn't the sort of a husband I should have chosen for my daughter, but I think perhaps he'll get along in the world all right."

"When he proposed to my daughter and she had told him to see me, he sent me a note telling me where his office is and what his office hours are, and asking me to drop around and see him when convenient."

The End.

"Down in Florida Miss Prettyface and I had such a romantic walk in a lemon grove."

"What happened?"

"She handed me one."

A Timely Suggestion.

"Why couldn't the roofs of all flat houses be uniform?"

"What for?"

"Why, then, pedestrians could leave the streets for us motorists."

COLDS &amp; LAGRIPPE

5 or 6 doses 666 will break any case of Chills & Fever, Colds & LaGrippe; it acts on the liver better than Calomel and does not gripe or sicken. Price 25c.—Adv.

Disappointment.

"Yes, I read it, and I am disappointed in it."

"Then it is as bad as the critics say?"

"Not hear."—Houston Post.
